

Bloom Health Partners Announces New Facilities to Serve New York and Northeastern US Regional Clients

New Bloom location will serve as a hub on the Eastern Seaboard to provide operational health services to wide array of organizations.

VANCOUVER, BC, January 6th, 2022 – Bloom Health Partners Inc. (“Bloom” or the “Company”) (CSE: BLMH, OTCQB: BLMHF, FRA: D840), a global platform for healthcare security, announces the opening of new facilities in New Jersey to allow central access to surrounding metropolitan centers such as New York City, Philadelphia, Boston and Washington, DC.

The new location provides expanded laboratories for operational health services and diagnostic testing to meet rapidly growing demand. As part of this expansion, Bloom has also added a local team. The New Jersey facility will serve Fortune 500 clients, sporting events, film/TV productions in New York and surrounding areas. The new facilities are an addition to Bloom’s existing locations in Dallas, Atlanta, Montgomery, and Los Angeles.

“Our new location in New Jersey will support operational health services for some of the nation’s largest organizations,” said Andrew Morton, CEO of Bloom. “We’re focused on occupational health-tech for our clients. However, we continue to see rising demand for testing services due to variants in the ongoing pandemic and testing mandates. With the opening of facilities that cover major centers like New York, we have the ability to meet high-volume testing demands while we scale up our occupational health clients. With locations in key cities, Bloom is well-positioned to support clients across the U.S., both regionally and on a national scale.”
